I have watched firsthand the event for the last three years, and was so impressed I thought it important enough to make a contribution to save it. – Greg Willard

The people, and most of all the children, of Cape Coral and the surrounding area have been hit hard with too many things this year. I felt it was the right thing to do to step up and be part of saving a tradition that so many look forward to each year. – Jay LaGace and Robin Whitt

This is for our children, who represent our nation's future. – Antonio Rodrigues

I've been living in Cape Coral since 1985 and I've always enjoyed the fireworks each year. It's a fun event, and as an active member of the community, I just wanted to give something back to the people. Not to mention, this event helps support the Children's Miracle Network, and I wanted to help make these kids have a great Fourth of July. – Michael Mazzoli

I'm proud to help save Red, White & Boom for the families of Cape Coral. After all, what would our Independence Day celebration be without the bombs bursting in air! – Bob Ashworth

I love helping the Cape Coral community. By supporting Red, White & Boom I feel that is going to make a difference to our children enjoying seeing the different colors the different designs and the sounds BOOM, POW, and so on. I remember when my kids were younger they enjoyed watching the Red, White & Boom. So, therefore, I am giving back to the community. – Eileen Rodriguez

As 18-year residents of Cape Coral, my kids grew up going to Red, White & Boom every year. When we heard it was going to be cancelled, we started to reminisce about the first time we went, back when it was held at what is now Tarpon Point Marina. We remembered when it moved to the bridge and how we enjoyed it so much more. It draws the community together for a great night of family fun and it's a great Cape pastime, we couldn't let that go away. – Josie Pierce

I have many fond memories of watching the fireworks as a young child with my family, and I want the families of Cape Coral to have the same opportunity. The Fourth of July has always been one of my favorite holidays – a day to spend with loved ones and to celebrate our freedom. – Terry McCarley

I've been a resident of Cape Coral since 1992 and a REALTOR since 1998. My children were raised here and have celebrated MANY Fourth of Julys in the Cape. When RE/MAX offered me the opportunity to be a sponsor of the Red, White & Boom – I jumped right in. I want to see this patriotic tradition continue to grow. – Mariann Brasington

This event evokes our respect, patriotism and appreciation for our past, present and future generations. – Jim Mattson

It's a tradition that shouldn't be abandoned. In times like these we need uplifting and patriotic events to keep everyone's spirits up. – Tom and Sue Demogenes

I grew up in a small town on the Jersey Shore that had fireworks every year on the 4th. When I moved here to Cape Coral I was very happy to see that the Cape provided fireworks on the 4th as well. Although Cape Coral is a large city, I love that it has that small-town feel. It would have been terrible to have this great tradition lost. – Debby Mantell

So many homeowners have lost their homes through either foreclosures or short sales and recovery is happening. We as REALTORS have taken an active role in this entire process and will continue to help build the market back up and keep Cape Coral a thriving and productive city. We need to help keep the exciting things stay alive. Besides that, we at no matter what age, become kids again on the Fourth of July; so that's another reason to help keep the celebration alive. – Bruce and Janie Nelson

When I was presented with an opportunity to help save a tradition that celebrates the freedom and independence in our local community, I had to get involved. To think that children in our community would not be able to enjoy an event like the Red, White & Boom was quite simply unacceptable. I am proud and honored to team up with my fellow RE/MAX Realty Team agents to make the Red, White & Boom a reality for 2010! – Jennifer Pentico

It is my pleasure as a RE/MAX Realty Team agent to show that patriotism is alive and well in Cape Coral. Happy Birthday America! – Donna Friedman

It's an honor and privilege to be able to help make possible the celebration of our nation's birthday. – Reggie Blough
